

Open Mind Software is a British registered limited company specialising in the supply of Software development services.

This site is still under construction - more will be added later. In the meantime, please follow the link to the left for Chris Cracknell, the managing director of Open Mind Software.